THE IDEA

How RADA plans work

RADA is free for the people who come to find things to do in Nairobi. Hosts and businesses pay to reach those people, run bigger events and see how they are doing. Four rules keep the plans fair.

01
Normal users stay free
Browsing, saving, chat, matching, hangouts and joining outings are never behind a paywall. People are the reason hosts and businesses pay.

02
Safety is never for sale
Block, report and the selfie check are free for everyone. Paid badges say “subscriber”, never “verified”.

03
Free businesses stay visible
Paying buys presentation, tools and promotion. A free listing is never hidden to push people to upgrade.

04
Limits stop cost and spam
The real costs are video storage and spam, so those are what we cap. Features are not locked for the sake of it.

Note on prices and limits. Everything marked with an asterisk (*) is a proposed addition that is not in the app yet. Prices are starting points to test with real merchants and hosts, not final numbers. All prices are in Kenyan shillings (KES).

FOR EVERYONE

Normal users: free forever

Everything people use to find a plan and get out the door is free. The only limits are fair-use caps that stop spam and control video storage.

Always free

- Browse and search spots, events and outings
- Save places, outings and hangouts
- Chat, group chats, voice and video notes
- Match requests in Discover (after the free selfie check)
- Join outings and request to join
- Post hangouts (photos and short videos)
- Plan a date, share outings and spots
- Tickets and passes in the Vault
- Report, block and all safety tools

Fair-use limits*

What	Limit	Why
Active hangouts	About 12 at a time	Keeps profiles fresh and storage under control
Hangout video length	30 seconds (today: 60)	Video is the biggest storage cost
Match requests	About 10 a day	Stops mass-liking and spam in Discover
"Join next time" taps	About 20 a day	Stops spam on hangouts

A paid "RADA Plus" tier for normal users can wait. It is worth testing only once there are many active users and a clear extra worth paying for. Until then, a free audience is the best thing RADA can sell to hosts and businesses.

The big idea: commission that shrinks as hosts grow*

If tickets are sold through RADA, a small commission earns more than any flat fee because it grows with the host. Higher plans pay less per ticket, which gives busy hosts a clear reason to upgrade.

FOR BUSINESSES

Merchant plans

Venues, restaurants, bars and event organisers are where most of the revenue comes from. They pay for presentation, proof that RADA brings them customers, and a way to stand out.

Why scarcity matters

Elite is worth the money because there is only room for a few featured businesses in each area or category. If everyone can be featured, nobody is. The number of featured slots is capped and shown openly.

Boosts: a separate add-on

Any verified business can buy a boost for a day or a week in Trending or a category row, on top of its plan. RADA already counts impressions and clicks on promotions, so businesses can see what they paid for. A boost does not guarantee a position, views or sales, and the business pays only after RADA approves it.

Billing and what happens when a plan ends

- M-Pesa first. Payment is by M-Pesa. Today an admin confirms each payment by hand. M-Pesa STK push will make this automatic once volume grows.
- Pay yearly, get 2 months free. Twelve months for the price of ten.
- 30-day trial. New paid plans can be tried first, as the app already supports.
- Plans that end never delete anything. Everything the person made is kept. They simply cannot add new items over the Free limits until they renew.

THE PLAN

Roll-out

Start gently, learn from real numbers, and only then ask for money.

1

Keep everything free for 60 to 90 days

Watch tracking: how many spots, outings and offers people really use, and what hosts and businesses ask for.

2

Charge merchants first

Businesses see the clearest return (customers, calls, directions) and have the budget. Offer a founding discount to the first group.

3

Then charge creators

Once ticketing and the creator tools are proven. Start with the commission and a small Pro price.

4

Automate payments

Replace admin-granted plans with M-Pesa STK push so growth does not need an admin for every payment.

5

Review prices every quarter

Adjust prices and caps using sign-ups, upgrades and cancellations. Keep the free tiers generous.

Also to decide

Final prices and limits, the number of Elite featured slots per area, the ticket commission, and the start date for charging. This document is a proposal: the numbers above are where to begin, and real conversations with the first hosts and businesses should set the final ones.
